DEMPSEY ON THE FIGHT. HE SAYS REAGAN WAS GAME AND GAVE HIM A GOOD BATTLE.

Opinions of Others—Jack Braws the 83,000 Stakes—He Shows No Marks Except on his Arm. Where he Warded Off the Blows. Not for many years before the Demosev-Reagan fight on Tuesday had there been a aght for the middle-weight championship conducted under the London prize ring rules, all the recent middle-weight fights having been according to the Queensberry rules, which are more agreeable to the laws of this country. although they are not so severe a test of fighter's endurance and courage, Sporting men are inclined to think there will not soon be another middle-weight fight under the London ring rules.

It was interesting yesterday to listen to the various sporting men about town, all of whom, of course, were included in the nineteen men who actually saw the fight. They told of terrible experiences in trying to reach the spot, and were held in the highest respect until somebody dropped in who really was present, when they took a back seat. Referee Frank Stevenson was highly complimented on his way of doing the business and getting the fight off without a crowd to interfere. Billy Madden, who is an enthusiastic admirer of Denipsey, said yesterday: Talk about Sullivan, if the Prince of Wales had been present and seen Dempsey perform on Reagan he would have cried for joy. In all my experience among puglists I never saw my experience among puglists I never saw such a cool-headed and calculating man in the ring as Dempsey."

Ned Mailahan endorsed all of Madden's speech. Jere Dunn of Chicago said:

"Dempsey is a good un. He wouldn't claim the fight on a foul when he had every opportunity to do so, and even when his seconds claimed it for him he declaimed against it."

A reporter went to Williamsburgh, Dempsey's home, and found Jack at the Metropolitan Hotel.

"Well. I won," said Dempsey, with a twinkle in his eyes.

in his eyes.
"I don't see any marks on your face?"
"Why, no," he replied, laughing, "I have fought many fights, and have never sported a block exert." fought many indies, and also believe by set."

"How about the punishment on your body?"

"Come up stairs, and I'll show you."

He stripped, and his skin was as white as a woman's. Irm, and smooth. The only place which showed that he had had any bard light was his left arm, with which he had warded off some of the blows. This arm was slightly

"What is your opinion of Reagan?"

Well, he's a game young man."
Did he give you as hard a fight as La "Did he give you as hard a fight as La Blanche?"
That's a question I don't like to answer, but I'll say this: Reagan gave me one of the hardest lights I ever had. When I entered the ring I made up my mind to force, the fighting and whip him quick. I went at him from the start, and would have continued, just the same as Sullivan does, as I did not want to give him any show to make a long battle of it, but the spiking I got and sait water bath rather upset me. I went to sleep while my clothes were drying, that is, while we were under way for the new place, and then I made up my mind I would try and take the sure way and finish him at my leisure, and that I did, as you know.
"I am now going over to get the stakes, so come siong."

would try and take the sure way and thish him at my leisure, and that I did, as you know.

"I am now going over to get the stakes, so come along."

The stakes were paid over to Dempsey by the stakeholder, Richard K. Fox. at the Police Garette office yesterday noon. Dempsey sarrived at II A. M. accompanied by Jake Stearns, his backer; Denny Costigan, his second in the fight, and a number of friends. A crowd was awaiting them, among whom were Billy Dacey, Dave Seelig of Chicago, Charley Perkins of Rocuester, and Referea Farrik Stevenson. Rengan didn't come, but his backer, Billy Head, dropped in to shake hands with the victor. The stakes were $1,900 a side, and on the issue besides denended to whom should be given the Police Garette diamond belt, representing the middle-weight championship of America. This belt Dempsey has held since March, 1885. He defeated the two beat middle weights in the country for it—Jack Fogarty of Philadelphia, in twenty-seven rounds, with skin gloves, and George La Blanche, the Marine, of Boston in thirteen rounds, with eut gloves. His victory over Ileagan makes the belt his personal property. The first two battles were hard ones, but not near as hard as this last. They were fought under Queensberry rules. In them, Jack had not the advantage that his wrestling shillities gave him in this London rule fight with Reagan were what used the latter up, and even at that he fought for an hour and five minutes, Billy Reed and Dempsey shook hands, and Dempsey asked how Reagan was.

"He is all right," said Reed, "There is nothing the matter with him much that shows. His lings are cut up, but that's about all you can see. The heavy falls he got did the business."

Mr. Fox handed Dempsey his check for $2,000, and in return got a receipt signed by Stearns and Dempsey.

Dempsey and Roagan will have a joint benefit shortly, when the beit will be presented to Dempsey by Frank Hall of Philadelphia, the six-day race manager, on behalf of Mr. Fox.

With a Revolver in Each Hand be Senttered Sports and Singgers.

HAMMOND, Ind., Dec. 14. The prize fight between William Sommers of Chicago and an unknown from Michigan City, at Hessville, to night, was indefinitely postponed by Claude Limball, a cowboy just from the West, who with a revolver in each hand, ran amuck through the crowd of a hundred sports present. Kimbali fired indiscriminately into the assemblage, and for a few moments the saloon where the fight was to have taken place seemed where the fight was to have taken place seemed a pandemonium.

Peter Reich, the saloon keeper, pulled a revolver on Kimball. There was an exchange of shots. Rich fell morrally wounded. Kimball took to the woods. He had been drunk early in the evening and was put out of the saloon. In revenge he fired a volley into the window, but no one was hurt and the saloon keeper treated it as a joke. The cowboy was quieted down and put to bed. It was when everything was in readiness for the prize fight that he immed wildly into the room and began shooting right and left.

When it was proposed to nominate Charley Johnston, the Brooklyn sport, as Kiirain's American second, Charley Mitchell, who it was expected would take that place, offered to vishdraw. Kiirain, however, asked that Mitchell and Prof. D. nnelly act as his attendants at the ring side, and Charley Johnston was appointed umpire for Kiirain. J. Fleming was chosen umpire for Smith, and Goorge Atkinson, the sporting editor of Sporting Life, was named as referee.

Both men were present and looked in good trim. Kiirain weighs 183 pounds and seemed in good spirits. A date will soon be set for the light, which it is now almost positively known will take place within 100 miles of London the latter part of this month.

Jack McAuliffe in Boston to See Carney. Boston, Dec. 14.-Jack McAuliffe arrived in Boston to-night just in time to take dinner with Jimmy Colville and Larry Killion. To The Sun correspondent McAuliffe said:

"Some of the papers have said some hard some of the papers have said some hard blings about me because I did not go into the ring again with Jem Carney. I was ready to continue the fight, and told Carney so, although I was not well. But my backers had the management of the whole thing, and they are responsible for the ending of the recent match, not me. Now that the trouble is over, however, I have got something to say, and it was for that purpose that I came on to boston. I am feeling a great deal better than I felt three weeks ago, and I am ready to make any kind of a match with Carney, providing that the fight takes place after three months, I will fight him to a thinh for any amount of money, in Boston or New York, or will even go to England. I mean just what I say, and if Carney is as anxious to get at me again as he says he is, here is his chance. I shall have to return to New York to-morrow night, but I latend to see Carney before I go and talk it over with him." McAuliffe looks better and stronger than he has locked for some time. The New Force by Which the Company Hopes to Repleatsh its Empty Treasury. PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.-The first annual meeting of the stockholders of the Keely Motor Company, since 1883, was held in this city to-day and was attended by about 75 stockholders, representing nearly 70,000 shares. Harrison Snyder acted as Chairman. The report of the Board of Directors was read and accepted. It congratulates the shareholders on the apparently revived interest in the company as exemplified by the attendance, says that one of the most important questions and calls special attention to the utterly inadequate recompense given the Secre-tary whose salary has dwindled down to $25 per month, and even at this meagre figure the company are five months in arrears with him. The Board complain of having borne the brunt of the abuse heaped upon the enterprise since 1883, and after having had a consultation with Mr. Keely they arrived at the following conclusions:

1. The directors are more than ever satisfied that the interprise is absolutely based upon the application of a enterprise is absolutely once upon bew motive power. 2. That Mr. Keety has underestimated in many par-ticulars the tiple necessary to the completion of his work.

3. That notwithstanding the doubts expressed in some quariers the Board still has high hopes, a steady and, in fact, wonderfor progress having been made in Mr. Keel's work chief difficulties have been removed, and we are now in sight of the results.

fact, wonderfol progress having been made in Mr. keely's work.

4. That the chief difficulties have been removed, and we are new in sight of the results.

The report of Mr. Keely, in response to the request for a statement of progress made, was then read. The inventor reviews his experiments as far back as 1882, when he was engaged in the construction of a generator to secure a vaporic or etheric force from water and alr, but which, when completed, was found to be impracticable, owing to the impossibility of securing graduation. After a succession of interesting but laborious experiments, he produced in March of 1885 what he termed a liberator, which could be operated in conjunction with the generator, and was a visitified in advance of anything accomplished hitherto. Meanwhile phenomena had been unfolded to him, opening a new field of experiment, as the result of which he became possessed of a new and important discovery. Hereafter he shall not, he says, require either the generator of liberator and his operations will be conducted without either the vaporic or eitheric forces, which heretofore played such an important part in his exhibitions. What name to give his new form of force he does not know, but the basis of it all, he says, is vibratory sympathy. It may be divided, too, into negative and sympathetic attraction, these two forms of force being the antithesis of each other. As to the practical outcome of his work, Mr. Keely could make no promises, lie had no doubt that he would scomer or later be able to produce engines of varying canacity, so small as to run a sewing machine and so large and powerful as to plough the sea as the notive lorce in great ships. His ultimate success, he still holds, will be greater than even his most sanguine advocates have predicted.

Among the work yet to be done is the complete the work of graduation or governing of the force, but as to what length of time it will take to complete the work he cannot say.

The Treasurer's report was read, and showed that there was a presen

They joined the party, and all hands drank considioined the party, and all hands drank considerable before it was conceived to be a good idea for Weiland Mrs. Poppitz to get married. The idea pleased everybody, and it was resolved to put it into execution at once. Then they all started out to find a Justice of the Peace, but encountered Mayor Haynes, whose genial nature prevented him from regusing the strange request. The ceremony was performed, the certificate granted, and then the whole party adjourned and hired a hall, where the remainder of the night was spent in celebrating. It is said that the matter looked different to both principals by the light of the cold morning sun, and that both were sorry they had married. Weil says his new wife remarked that her sister and her children would go wild and drive her away. The old man is credited with saying:

"It is a legal marriage, any how. What can I do? I did not want to get married. I have good children to take care of me, and I didn't know what I was about. I'll settle it for $500, though, and I guess Mrs. Weil will give more than that to get out of it."

Mrs. Weil fled to Brooklyn yesterday morning, and she has not returned to Newark. Woil's daughters were indignant when they heard of the marriage. One of them said she paid the rent for the house they live in, and that her father was unable to earn much money or work much. She never heard of Mrs. Poppitz. Weil's family consists of three well-grown girls and two boys. Fleigenheimer, in whose place the marriage was planned, said yesterday:
"It is a shame. They did it for a joke, but erable before it was conceived to be a good yesterday:

She appeared before Commissioner Voorhis yesterday as complainant against Policeman Edward Kennedy of the Carmansville station. whom she charged with assaulting her and using improper language. On Oct. 6, she said. a baker's boy named Max Schimpf came to her while she was sitting on the stoop of her house, and complained to her, with tears in his eyes, that a dog catcher had taken away his dog without cause. He had appealed to a policeman, but hadn't received any satisfaction. She went but hadn't received any satisfaction. She went with the boy to the police station at 152d street and Tenth avenue, and reported the case to Sergt. W. F. Kirchner, saying she was an officer of Mr. Bergh's society. Kirchner said to her:

"You are not an officer, and you know nothing of this case!" at the same time pounding on his desk.

"I then showed my badge." she testified, but the Sergeant paid no attention to me. I left the station, with the boy, and had proceeded a block when Policeman Kennedy overtook me, and said that the boy was wanted at the station house as complainant against the dog catcher.

"At the time she was in the station house," said the Sergeant, "I was busy with a dingling telephone and a hurry call from the Central Office. She left abruptly, saying: 'I'll teach you your duty; I'll have you bounced!' I was not ungentlemanly."

"Oh. mx, you lie," exclaimed Mrs. Moore.
Then she explained that, being French, she had said "bounced" without knowing that it was a vulgar word. Decision was reserved.

BROOKLYN DEFEATS NEWARK AT POLO. Wedthy Makes the Only Three Geals for

The second game of the championship polo season was played by the Brooklyn and Newark Clubs at the Palace Rink, Brooklyn, last night. It was the first game for the Newark men, and they showed their lack of practice by working on the defensive pretty much all the time. Adams, Newark's goal tend, had his mettle tried in stopping the ball in goal. and he did remarkably well. The Newark men only got the ball down the floor in front of the Brooklyns' goal by spurts. In the first goal Waish eaged the ball after 10 minutes and 32 seconds. However, as three fouls were called on them after this, they lost the goal. The Brooklyn men seemed to have everything their own way, and at times they played with their opponents as a kitten does with a mouse. About 500 spectators saw the game. The score: About 500 Speciators Saw the gatas.

MODE WELLO TALK.

The Telephone Investigation Ends Its Work The Assembly Committee that is investigating telephones yesterday finished the taking of testimony in this city, Edward A. Dickinson, who lives in Brooklyn and has two offices in this city, said that he would have his telephones taken out immediately if they were not a necessity in his busidiately if they were not a necessity in his business, because of the wretchedly poor service. He had complained frequently, and once, in answer to a complaint, an officer of the company called, and for a month alterward the service was good. Heacknowledged the improvement by letter, and immediately the service went to pieces again. He would not say that the charges were greater than they should be for an ideal, or parly ideal, service.

Frank S. Gardner, acting Secretary of the Board of Trade, said that on Monday the Board had sent out about 500 circulars asking subscriters to the telephone system about the service. Thirty-one reniles classified the service as "good." 17 as "fair." 77 made no comment as to the service, and Secalied it "faulty" or "bad." Some few said their instruments had been dispensed with because of bad service; 204 repiles classed the charges as "high" or "extinate."

Lawer George C. Gillett, who owns two farms near Greenville, N. Y., testified that telephone companies, in crossing the country, cut down single trees, destroyed property, blockaded highways, and concealed their identity so as to avoid prosecution,

Vice-President E. J. Hall of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company said its investments up to October, 1887, amounted to $1,000,000. As yet it has paid no dividends. The receipts have been $23,190.91.

HERR NIEMANN'S $10,000 APOLOGY.

He Retracts His Objectionable Remarks
About Frederick Wolfe's Gambling. Herr Albert Niemann, the tenor of the German Opera Company, yesterday made his $10,000 apology to Herr Frederick Wolfe for calling the latter a professional gembler, and his dwelling in West Forty-third street a gambling house. The attempt to arrange the matter amicably on Tuesday failed, but yesterday afternoon Manager Heinrich Conried, the bosom friend of the tenor, accompanied by a lawyer, went to Lawyer Samuel G. Barnard's office in Park row and took the apology along in his pocket. It was in the tenor's own handwriting, and was a complete retraction of the objectionable language. The tenor wrote that he had heard somebody else make the remark about Herr Wolfe first, and thoughtlessly repeated it, but without the slightest malice. He regretted that the remark ever passed his lips. Manager Conried handed the apology to Lawyer Barnard, and Lawyer Barnard handed it to his client. Herr Wolfe, and Herr Wolfe read it and said he was satisfied. He gave Lawyer Barnard a check for his fee, and Lawyer Barnard made out an order for the discontinuance of the $10,000 liber suit against Herr Niemann. A meeting of gentlemen interested in the ease of Miss Harriet N. Morris, Principal of Public School 39, is soon to be held at the residence of a well-known citizen, at which the facts bearing upon her removal are to be presented and considered. A Brooklyn minister in speaking of the proposed meeting, said that whatever of pain and mortification this notoriety had cost Miss Morris personally, it had been a means of arousing a large number of citizens to an interest in the management of the public schools, and a determination to know more of the Board of Education as a body and of its individual representatives.

Miss Morris is preparing a reply to the charges made by Chairman Miller of the Local Committee. The delay in so doing has been caused by the necessity of making an examination of the reports of other schools with which here was compared to its disadvantage, and by her inability to accomplish more than a small amount of work at a time, owing to the great nervous strain under which she has been living for the past few weeks. whatever of pain and mortification this no-

A complaint was sent to the Board of Health yesterday on behalf of a number of ticket agents on the Elevated Railroad whose hands have been poisoned by handling the tickets. There are three serious cases mentioned the men having taken the poison into their systems from scratches on their hands. The rod ink printing on the ticket is believed to be the cause of the trouble. Dr. Edson will be the cause of the trouble.

Duane Street Park Closed Again.

Mayor Hewitt's correspondence with Jim Penny and his chums over the opening of Duane street park as a play ground for the boys has led to complaints of broken windows and bruises resulting from ball playing. Yesterday a formal complaint was made to the Park Board, signed by the merchants and dwellers around the park, asking the Park Board to close the park. An order was immediately issued to close the park.

Plush Sucques Selling Fast.

Hannigan & Bouillon's store at 243 Grand street is one of the sights of that busy thoroughfare during the month preceding Christman. There is hardly anything in the line of women's and children's apparel which they do not keep. Their display windows attract a crowd all day long. It is their cloak department, which occupies the whole of the second floor, that surpasses anything in the city, they claim, for variety of pattern and cheapness. An elegant plush sacque for $1.000 is selling as fast as it can be supplied. There are plush wrans are especially popular, and they are sold a third cheaper than elsewhere. A slik brocade veives wrap, with hair trimmings and fur tails to match, is one of the novelites. One of the circumstances influencing the speculation in stocks, which the advocates of lower prices claim warrants their operations. namely, the narrowness of the market, worked to their disadvantage to-day. In consequence of the limited interest that the public takes in the stock market at present it is comparatively easy for a few operators to take all the stocks that are sold on such occasions as yesterday, when false reports were resorted to in order to depress prices, and then they turned the tables upon their opponents. The real character of ered to-day upon moderate dealings nearly all that it lost the two previous days. The story circulated at the close yesterday of a serious defalcation in some financial institution in Philadelphia contributed to the defeat of the bears to-day. They themselves directed interest to a fictitious disaster, and in consequence the actual casualties in the commercial world which were reported this morning were overtooked, and had no effect upon prices. It is one of the incongruities of stock speculation that a failure in trade in which the actual losses may not aggregate $100,000 can be utilized to depress the value of securities to the extent of several millions of dollars. The improvement in the tone of the market erally expected was not reflected in the movement of that stock. Hence it seems fair to assume that the increase has not been discounted in the market.

The buying of Reading may have been to an extent inspired by the fact that the syndicate which was formed with a subscribed capital of $20,000,000 to underwrite the licading plan of reorganization has practically gone out of business. The subscribers received to-day 5 8 cent, upon the par of their respective subscriptions, which is in the nature of a dividend from the profits. The cash raid in, which was only 8 % cent, of the capital subscribed, will be returned with interest, probably before the close of the year. A more successful conclusion has rarely, if ever, attended so large and important an undertaking.

The Western Union Telegraph Company declared to-day a quarterly dividend of 114 & cent. payable Jan. 16. The statement for the quarter ending Dec. 31, the present month, estimated, shows net carnings of $1,500,000 and a surplus after paying the dividend of $280,007. The actual net revenue for the previous quarter was $1,306,911, or $33,089 less than the estimate. The earnings upon the stock this quarter are approximately 1,57 & cent. against 1,07 & cent. upon $6,200,000 less capital a year ago. The economies that will result from the absorption of the Baltimere and Ohio Telegraph system will not, according to the statement, be reflected in the net carnings much before the end of the year.

Being unable to prevent their election to the Richmond and West Point Terminal directory, Messra, R. P. Flower, Wm. Rockefeller, and R. T. Wilson have now declined to serve as directors of that company.

The Presidents of the trunk line railroads and representatives of the Central Traffic Association were unable to determine to-day what differential rate, if any, should be allowed the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada unon dressed meat traffic. The Governing Committee of the Stock Ex-The Governing Committee of the Stock Exchange decided to-day that the Exchange should not be opened for business on the Saturday preceding Christmas and that preceding New Year's. The general dubiess and the fact that Saturday is a half holiday influenced this decision. Messrs. A. Clifford Tower and Duncan D. Parmiy were elected Governors in the places of Fellowes Davis and C. G. Peters, who resigned because they could not force the system of trading "for the account" upon the Exchange.
